Smarter payment. Better business.

AirPlus Cyber Security and Security Competence

The maximum security standards for your data

Do you strive for the utmost in information security and control?

AirPlus ensures you receive it.

All of your company's and employees' data is in safe hands. You can rely on the most professional handling and processing of your data, whether it's your credit card data or our online product services: processing and dispatch are traceable at all times.

It is your data.

Third parties have no access to it.

We comply with the following legal regulations ...

- Directives of the European Commission
- Directives of the Financial Regulators
- Banking regulations
- Privacy Standards Security regulations and provisions of Mastercard®

Based on these legal requirements, we guarantee compliance with the highest security standards, even in international business transactions. In addition, we have implemented strict security measures to prevent misuse or unauthorized access and to ensure the safe handling of your information.

... and we are subject to our own additional codes of conduct.

- AirPlus is Payment Card Industry Data Security Standard (PCI DSS) certified.
Annual certification renewals ensure that we are continuously improving the protection of our customer and payment data, and that both are always up to date. Learn more about PCI DSS at AirPlus.
- Our high security standards and commitment to the protection of customer and payment data are accredited by the CyberVadis certification.
- External service providers that we use to properly process your information may only use it in accordance with our strict specifications. The sole purpose of data processing is the proper fulfilment of your contract.
- Each AirPlus employee has signed a data confidentiality agreement, and compliance is strictly monitored. In addition, access to data is limited to the appropriate process and must be approved by management at the highest level.
- We apply the same high standards as Mastercard®.

Information security at AirPlus: Tailored to your individual needs

On request, passenger name, date of purchase, and AirPlus Company Account number can be hidden from your AirPlus Company Account statements.

In principle, all data transmissions from our online products are encrypted without exception. This guarantees that the transmission of your online statements is secure.

In our Management Information System (MIS), the AirPlus Information Manager, as well as our state-of-the-art B2B reporting platform, AirPlus Intelligence, you have the option to mask customer names, personal IDs, and AirPlus Corporate Card numbers.
